They’re back… riding in style!

Every year, hundreds of students get to meet the Terminator, MLGW’s very own superhero, dedicated to educating kids all across Shelby County about electricity safety. While he’s impressive by himself, one of the best parts about a visit from the super-powered Terminator is seeing how his bucket truck helps him serve our customers. Until now, MLGW reps. visiting schools with a truck have had to rely on what could be spared from the normal fleet of equipment. This sometimes meant that no vehicles were available during a school’s event.

That’s no longer a concern — the Terminator has his very own ride! Employees from MLGW’s Communications and Public Relations led the project to restore a decommissioned bucket truck and wrap it with Terminator graphics and safety tips. Crews from MLGW’s Paint and Body Shop worked their magic to make an old truck look brand new. The fun and colorful bucket truck will help promote safe energy use at home to students for many years to come. Don’t be surprised if you see the Terminator show up with his flashy ride at a school or community event near you!

United Way campaign kicks off with city–wide Day of Caring

This year’s United Way campaign at MLGW kicked off with the Day of Caring. More than 40 MLGW employees joined 1,000 other volunteers from local companies and government agencies to serve local nonprofits across the city. After an inspiring kick-off speech by MLGW President and CEO and United Way of the Mid-South Board Chairman Jerry Collins Jr. at the National Civil Rights Museum, eager workers made their way to the sites for a day of hard work for a good cause. MLGW volunteers were assigned to Hope House and Grace House.

Hope House is a Midtown-based nonprofit that provides therapeutic daycare, social services and more to HIV–affected adults, children and their families. MLGW workers cleaned playground equipment, did gardening and yard work, painted daycare walls, repaired a porch, washed a bus and spent time with children. They got a lot of work done in just a few hours, and every part of Hope House was left improved by the volunteers.

Grace House provides residential treatment and assistance to local women whose lives have been negatively impacted by alcohol, drugs and other substance abuse. Recently, the organization acquired property from the state to serve even more women. Before the new residences could be used, they needed help from MLGW volunteers to remove hundreds of square feet of carpet, clean and paint furniture, clear a shed and haul away trash. Because of their hard work, Grace House can begin making a new home for women in need.

We are proud of our volunteers for representing MLGW so well and making a difference in our community.

Be aware of the silent killer!

Carbon monoxide is often called the "silent killer" for good reason. This colorless, odorless and tasteless gas is exhaled whenever natural gas is not being burned properly or an appliance is not vented as it should be. Carbon monoxide poisoning is especially dangerous because its victims often don't recognize the symptoms until it's too late. Headaches, fatigue, dizziness, nausea, vomiting, and the inability to think clearly are all tell-tale signs of carbon monoxide poisoning. If you suspect carbon monoxide poisoning, seek medical assistance immediately and move the victim, if possible, to a well-ventilated area, then call Memphis Light, Gas and Water’s 24-hour emergency number, 528-4845.

MLGW employees raise funds for worthy causes

Each year, MLGW participates in the Food Bank’s area-wide Operation Feed campaign, raising money to provide meals for families in need. This year, MLGW employees came together to raise $196,821, enough funds to provide nearly 90,000 meals for families in the Mid-South. The Food Bank recognized MLGW’s efforts as earning the second-highest amount for companies with between 1,000 and 4,999 employees.

Tips for winter energy savings

It’s that time of year when the leaves fall, the wind gets colder and winter is right around the corner. That means heating bills, which can average 40 percent or more of your annual utility costs.

Use the following energy-saving advice to help reduce your winter utility bills. These free or low-cost steps not only save you money, they also conserve precious energy:

- Set thermostat at 68° or lower when you’re home. Every degree below 68° saves four percent on your heating bills.
- Wear layers of clothing and thick socks to keep warm, and set your thermostat lower.
- At bedtime, lower thermostat even more and add extra blankets.
- Close garage doors; cover foundation vents; close off vents and doors to seldom-used rooms.
- Make sure central heating air filters are clean or replaced regularly.

MLGW’s Winter Moratorium provides elderly (60+) and disabled customers uninterrupted utility service during the coldest months of the year (December 1-March 1).
