Holiday boxes from Gas Engineering

MLGW’s Gas Engineering department recently held a friendly competition to design special holiday boxes, which later were filled with donated items for families at Ronald McDonald House. The winning team engineered a rolling scale model of an MLGW gas truck.

Safe Digging Month, you dig?

April is National Safe Digging Month when many homeowners, residents and contractors dig, excavate, landscape and garden. If there are plans to dig on your property, whether for fence posts, trees, gardening, home addition, etc., always call to get your utility lines located and marked first. Plan ahead. Call 811, the safe digging hotline, before you dig. MLGW, cable and phone companies will come and mark your utility lines for free. Allow 72 hours (three business days) for your lines to be marked before any digging.

Always check to make sure your contractor has called and had your lines marked before they’re allowed to begin any digging. Striking unmarked underground gas or electrical lines can be deadly, and they could be at any depth. Call 811 Before You Dig. It’s the law! And it’s free. Call 811 for fence posts, trees, gardening, home addition, etc., always call to get your utility lines located and marked first. Plan ahead. Call 811, the safe digging hotline, before you dig. MLGW, cable and phone companies will come and mark your utility lines for free. Allow 72 hours (three business days) for your lines to be marked before any digging.

Without checking, you could be liable for any damage that you do.

If you get such a call, MLGW and the Memphis Police urge you to do the following:
• Hang up the phone
• Never give out personal financial information over the phone
• Call the MLGW Customer Care Center at 901-544-6549 if you have any concerns
• Report it to your local police station if you have been scammed

After a card is purchased, the victim gets a second “spoofed” call which appears to be from MLGW’s call center. The victim is instructed to provide them with the 14-digit serial number from the card. Once they get the card’s information, the amount can be pulled remotely and anonymously from anywhere in the world.

Nationally, the Better Business Bureau reported 73 separate cases of utility impostor scams in North America for 2015. No one is immune. Scammers targeted customers from rural electric cooperatives, and publicly and privately-held companies. In November, the Tennessee Department of Commerce and Insurance’s Consumer Affairs Division alerted Middle Tennessee customers of the scam. Thieves were claiming to be with Nashville Electric Service.

If you get such a call, MLGW and the Memphis Police urge you to do the following:
• Hang up the phone
• Never give out personal financial information over the phone
• Call the MLGW Customer Care Center at 901-544-6549 if you have any concerns
• Report it to your local police station if you have been scammed

Go to any of the five MLGW community business offices and speak with a credit counselor if you have problems paying your utility bill.

Major news for MLGW

Memphis Light, Gas and Water, the city of Memphis and FedEx recently sent 500 cases of water to residents of Flint, Michigan as an alternative to using their city’s water supply due to lead contamination. The bottled water went to the Food Bank of Eastern Michigan, one of the designated collection sites for donated water. A simple phone call to city officials spurred the support. Bernal Smith of the Tri-State Defender called the city to ask if there was something we could do, this seemed like the most logical step,” said Memphis Mayor Jim Strickland. “I’m grateful to MLGW President Jerry Collins Jr. and FedEx for responding so quickly, and I hope it will encourage others to act.”

MLGW was recognized externally by many organizations throughout the year. We received the 2015 Governor’s Environmental Stewardship Award; the Southern Gas Association recognized our efforts for engineering retention; the Mid-South Minority Business Council continue awards MLGW with the APEX Corporation of the Year for the fifth time; we were named in the 100 Best Firms in North America; MLGW was also named an “Environmental Champion” in a customer survey by Cogent Energy Reports; Security Magazine lauded us as one of the top companies for data security; the American Public Gas Association recognized the CNG Program with the Marketing & Sales Recognition.

As we reflect and close out another calendar year, we can’t help but note how 2015 was filled with unforeseen challenges and many successes. We have succeeded again in making Memphis Light, Gas and Water a great utility for our customers. Because of our employees’ commitment to provide the best service to our customers, MLGW has provided reliable power, natural gas and drinking water to Memphis and Shelby County for 76 years while maintaining some of the lowest rates in the nation. Here are some of last year’s highlights:

Recognition
MLGW was recognized externally by many organizations throughout the year. We received the 2015 Governor’s Environmental Stewardship Award; the Southern Gas Association awarded our efforts for engineer retention; the Mid-South Minority Business Council Continuum awarded MLGW with the APEX Corporation of the Year for the fifth time; we were named in the 100 Best Firms in North America; MLGW was also named an “Environmental Champion” in a customer survey by Cogent Energy Reports; Security Magazine lauded us as one of the top companies for data security; the American Public Gas Association recognized the CNG Program with the Marketing & Sales Award; TVA named us a Top Performer for energy savings; and for the fifth time, the American Public Power Association recognized us as a Reliable Public Power Provider.

Supplier Diversity
Another aspect of our company to applaud is the Supplier Diversity program. At the end of the third quarter, our 2015 spending with small businesses owned by minorities, women and local residents was over $10 million – 34 percent of the company’s overall spending with outside suppliers. We are proud of how the program is leading the way to economic prosperity and how we continue to provide awareness, opportunity and growth for local companies.

Helping Hands
Once again in 2015, employees made an impact in the Memphis and Shelby County community through monitory giving, volunteering and participating in community outreach events spearheaded with our new brand and logo, Helping Hands. Our employees’ efforts to benefit Operation Feed, United Way, Junior Achievement, the Salvation Army, the American Heart Association, the American Diabetes Association and many other organizations through walks, bike rides and activities show how we are living out our mission to improve the quality of life for all Memphis and Shelby County customers while lending a helping hand.

We look forward to working with our customers to make 2016 an even better year!

MLGW always present at Salvation Army programs

During the month of December, MLGW employees volunteered to ring the traditional hand bells and raise funds for the Salvation Army in front of the Walgreens on Main Street in downtown Memphis. At the same time, MLGW employees filled the Administration Building lobby with bikes, toys, appliances and other items for the Salvation Army Angel Tree program, which provides Christmas gifts and cheer to low-income children and seniors.

Smart Talk: Connecting new service will be less hassle with smart meters

The process for connection and reconnection of service will get a lot simpler for customers with the full deployment of smart meters. Starting or stopping service will be almost as fast as flipping a switch.

That’s in stark contrast to the time it takes today. Currently, customers have to make an appointment and wait for a technician to arrive to manually turn services on or off. Appointments are available in two-hour increments. With smart meters, customers won’t have to take two hours off work or wait two hours for a technician; MLGW could remotely turn services on or off. All it would take is for the customer to make a phone call from their residence to MLGW’s Call Center to be connected. Offering this type of service enhancement far exceeds what most cable companies or internet providers can deliver, and it’s an option customers deserve. Improving connection and reconnection service times is just one of the many reasons why MLGW is looking forward to installing smart meters.

MLGW donates space heaters and blankets

MLGW has worked closely with many charitable organizations in our region. Last year, MLGW and the NCC teamed up to give away 100 space heaters and 200 blankets with MLGW’s Power of Warmth program.

City recognizes Carver High, MLGW’s adopt-a-school

The Memphis City Council honored MLGW’s adopted school, C.W. Carver High, during a recent Council meeting. Carver High’s football team was named top in the state and received a standing ovation as Councilman Edmund Ford Jr. presented a resolution for the team’s athletic and academic achievements. Over half of the players earned academic honors for having a 3.0 grade point average or higher, perfect attendance and/or citizenship awards. In addition, the team was crowned 2015 Regional Champions, Division 1, Class AA. Several players were also named to The Commercial Appeal’s Best of the Preps, and the city bought their water from nearby Detroit. The Flint River water was so corrosive that it damaged the lead pipes that it flowed through. Tri-State’s president and publisher Smith is glad that Memphis is helping the distressed community. “I would hope that if Memphis was suffering like Flint, other cities would reach out to us as well,” he said.
